

Institute for the Development of Consulting and Enterprise (IDCE)

IDCE is an associate institute of the "Université Catholique de l'Ouest" situated in Angers.

Created in 1988 with the help of the General Council of the Maine-et-Loire and the Economical Development Committee of the Maine-et-Loire, the IDCE offers programmes in the fields of consulting and business management studies.

Programmes

The institute has two different schools: The Consulting School and The Management of International Business School, as most of the courses are taught in English.

The Consulting School proposes:

- The Diploma of Management Consultant - accredited by the French State at level 2 (equivalent to four years after the "baccalauréat", the french diploma that corresponds to the British A levels). This programme can be taken full-time (9 months), or part-time (18 months). It teaches the basic skills, tools and practices of management consulting.

- The University Diploma of Consultant - accredited by the "Université Catholique de l'Ouest" at bac + 5 (five years after the "baccalauréat"). This one-year programme is designed to train consultants to start their consulting activity or to help existing consultants to improve their standards of qualification.

The Management School proposes:

- The PREPA BBA in International Business (in English and French) - this 1-year bilingual programme allows the students to acquire effective methods of work, to strengthen their general knowledge, to develop their knowledge in mathematics, economy, management, law and to master English language before beginning international business management studies.

- The BBA in International Business (in English) - this 3-year programme provides students with a wide background in general education, an extensive knowledge in business and management and a specialization in global management or in finance.

- The MBA in International Business (in English) - this 2-year programme provides students with a wide theoretical and practical background in business and management, an inter-cultural approach of the international development of companies and a specialisation in global management or in global finance.

Location & Facilities

The Institute is situated in the town of Angers in North-Western France about 300 km southwest of Paris. Angers traces its roots to early Roman times. It occupies both banks of the Maine, which is spanned by six bridges. The district along the river is famous for its flourishing nurseries and market gardens. It is well known for its fresh produce and cut flowers.

Students at the IDCE have access to three libraries, computers rooms, three university restaurants (EUR 2.85 per meal), a health centre, sports activities, cultural activities (theatre, dance music) and a housing department.

Accommodation

IDCE housing department helps students to find housing. There are 3 essential types of housing: private flat (EUR 350.00 per month), room in a family (EUR 280.00 per month) and housing in homes (EUR 500.00 per month).

The average monthly budget for a student in BBA PREP amounts to EUR 1,034.00, BBA - EUR 1,089.00, MBA + Pre-MBA - EUR 1,466.00, MBA - 1,393.00.
